

What stands out for me is the 1973 team which I played on, winning the opening game in the National Basketball Tournament in Kansas City, MO which was a first for a team representing the New England Region and having dinner with the other teams and the Kansas City Chiefs players. The best steak I ever ate. Overall, it was a rewarding 72-73 basketball season.